

HOW TO TEST YOUR BURGLAR ALARM

These steps are not to be used for fire alarm systems.

How often should I test my burglar alarm?

Once a year at the very minimum. However, every 1-3 months is more attentive. And, you should always test your system after a power outage, any changes or issues related to the phone/internet, if you recently had contractors working, etc.

STEPS:

1. Call our monitoring station, Alarm Central, at 877.532.1500
2. Tell them your account name, account number and passcode
3. Request that your alarm system be placed in Test mode. (So, police will not be dispatched during testing).
4. Alarm the system, AWAY
5. Once Armed Away, you can test/set off the devices individually. Example: open a closed door or move around for motion detection.

NOTE: If you have a siren, it will be loud. But you must let it sound off for at least 20 seconds so the signal can transmit successfully.

6. After testing each device, call Alarm Central 877.532.1500.
7. Tell them your account name, account number and passcode.
8. Ask them to confirm that signals were received from all the devices you tested.
9. Request that your alarm be taken off Test Mode.

If issues are discovered during the test, please contact T&C Fire and Security Systems at 816.690.4722 and request a technician for a service call to get the alarm repaired.
